

A friend was going to meet you tomorrow but he/she told you this morning that he/she prefers to meet another person

Your group of friends are going on a holiday trip but you cannot go with them because you have to work/ you do not have means

You wanted to stay at home visiting your family in the New Year's Eve but you have to work all night.

Your best friend is going to have a baby (so she/he would have less spare time)

You got a job but you do not like it

Your work hours have been reduced but so has your salary

You have been injured and have asked for a sick leave.

Your company needs you to finish your work at home

You sometimes need to work more time than the specified in your contract but they do not pay you those extra hours

A friend has ask you for some space and time for him / her but has not explained why

There is a friend who feels bad about a personal situation and just wants your consolation and to be with you

You are about to leave on a trip but your companion has told you he/she is no longer able to go

You need to move to another city/town/village

A family member must leave for work/study a period of time

You finally go on vacation and the weather is horrible

You have asked for a gift online for a relative/friend whose birthday is this week, but suddenly the order is delayed and will arrive the following week

The home improvement job of your house will be delayed more than expected

A friend/relative (brother,sister...) is going to have a baby but his/her live situation is not so stable

The degree you/ a friend/relative want(s) to study exists only in a very expensive private university.

Your neighborhood has been badly damaged by a disoriented group of animal X and the answer has been to end them

LEAGUE OF EMOTIONS
LEARNERS

In the last elections you voted for someone who now does not seen right for the position

A company with which you had an interview has canceled it because they have found someone else before you

You want be able to go to your best friend's wedding

You have found an envelope with 500 euros but you know it belongs to a plumber

You won a weekend trip in a raffle but it only covers hotel expenses

There has been opened a new night club under your house

You have reached the weight you wanted to get but now nothing from your closet fits you

They have prepared a huge party for your birthday but you do not like any gift

In a party/celebration your clothes have been stained with a glass of wine

Someone has left you in inheritance an old house in a very small village

The city council wanted to communicate more the area where you live and have made a highway next to your house

In your city, in order to avoid accidents, the local government has taken the precautionary measure of reducing the maximum authorized speed for all vehicles to 25km/h.

You have fallen off the bike and you have become friend of the person who has helped you to get up

You have bought the birthday gift that your friend expected so much, although it has been quite expensive

Your friend and you participated together in a raffle of 100 euros and each one threw his ballot. She/he has won it but he has given you 5 euros.

