

A friend/relative (brother,sister...) is going to have a baby but his/her live situation is not so stable

---

The degree you/ a friend/relative want(s) to study exists only in a very expensive private university.

---

Your neighborhood has been badly damaged by a disoriented group of animal X and the answer has been to end them

---

In the last elections you voted for someone who now does not seem right for the position

---

A company with which you had an interview has canceled it because they have found someone else before you

---

You want be able to go to your best friend's wedding

You have found an envelope with 500 euros but you know it belongs to a plumber

---

You won a weekend trip in a raffle but it only covers hotel expenses

---

There has been opened a new night club under your house

---

You have reached the weight you wanted to get but now nothing from your closet fits you

---

They have prepared a huge party for your birthday but you do not like any gift

---

In a party/celebration your clothes have been stained with a glass of wine

Someone has left you in inheritance an old house in a very small village

---

The city council wanted to communicate more the area where you live and have made a highway next to your house

---

In your city, in order to avoid accidents, the local government has taken the precautionary measure of reducing the maximum authorized speed for all vehicles to 25km/h.

You have fallen off the bike and you have become friend of the person who has helped you to get up

You have bought the birthday gift that your friend expected so much, although it has been quite expensive

Your friend and you participated together in a raffle of 100 euros and each one threw his ballot.

She/he has won it but he has given you 5 euros.

